Tips and Tricks for Beginners and Veterans by JeezPlayingAgain There are something called server level. You can check what level your server is at by clicking on icon right here. The server level will tell you exactly how far you can level without getting any EXP penalty. If you are below the server level, you will be just stacking your base experience points until the sever level increases. Tip #2There are two ways to farm for cards, accessories, and meterials. You can use your Hunting time or your Freyas Blessing. Every single day you get 120 minutes of hunting time. You can use your Hunting time or your Freyas Blessing. will only get 1 EXP per kill depending on the level of the monster and no item drops. You can also use Freyas Blessing. This buff doesnt give you any experience points but allows players extra time to farm for meterials, equipments and cards. You get 60 minutes of this buff every single day and can stack up to 420 minutes. You should wait until you have 420 minutes and use it all at one. That should maximize the chance of you getting a good drop. If you run out of both hunting time and the Freyas Blessing, then you wont be able to get any item drops at all. No cards, no accessories, nothing. Tip #3Starting at level 45, you can unlock the medals. These medals increases various stats as well as stats for your mercenaries. You can obtain material to upgrade you medal through the Cat Delivery daily quest or with these medal boxes. Note: Only upgrade the important ones first that relates to your job. Tip #4One of the best features about Ragnarok Origin is the fact that there are multiple presets you can set for a character. The first preset for the skill, stats, and equipment cost 20K zeny each. And the 3rd cost a bit more. I highly recommend you invest yourselves in these presets. You can freely change your build type into whatever you want without the hassel of resetting everytime. This is especially useful for Priest players who can go battle priest first and once you can unlock the preset, go full support. You also have 3 free resets for your stats and skills. So, if you went for a build and didnt like it, dont stress to much about it. You can always reset for free. And event if you use all 3 free reset, the materials you need to reset your skills and stats are cheap. You can unlock this preset starting at level 45. Tip #5You can find skill control in your settings, personal tab, and these two options right here. The classic way allows you to place you skill wherever you click on the area. This make placing santuary or wizard AOE skills a lot easier. The double touch control sets your skills directly on yourself. Unless you select a party member or enemy, this will place your skills directly on them. So if you use safety wall then it will be cast directly on them. So if you use safety wall then it will be cast directly on them. So if you use safety wall then it will be cast directly on them. So if you use safety wall then it will be cast directly on them. Each control has their pros and cons. Its up to you to figure out which control style works best with your job. Tip #6You can actually save your daily quest for the next day. If you start a daily quest sand lose out on valuable experience points. The only thing is, the quest dont stack. So if you started the dancing quest the day before and the dancing quest shows up again the next day. You must finish the previous one before you can start the dancing quest there is a set amount of time you can fish per day. If you pass that time limit, you wont be able to fish anymore. Tip #7Monster Research is a neet feature that Gravity placed in Ragnarok Origin. Every time you kill a certain amount of the same type monster you will increase that monsters research level. If you increase that monsters research level then you gain extra points. Whenever you increase you research book level, you gain extra stats for your character. The amount you get isnt a lot but its better than nothing. You can unlock a few special headgear for having you research level is to finish your daily hunting time. Pick an area where you can kill monster quickly and efficiently. The monster kill count goes up faster if you party up with other players. Even with no hunting time left, the kills you get from killing monsters still goes towards your research book. And at 5AM, you will be automatically teleported back to your saved town location. So you dont have to worry about wasting your hunting time for the next day. 2018 Asian Games, 2,2022 Asian Games, 10,2023 Asian Games, 10, 2026 Asian Games, 2, 2XKO, 1, 5G, 36, 6G, 1, A+ Rewards, 11,
